

Lori,

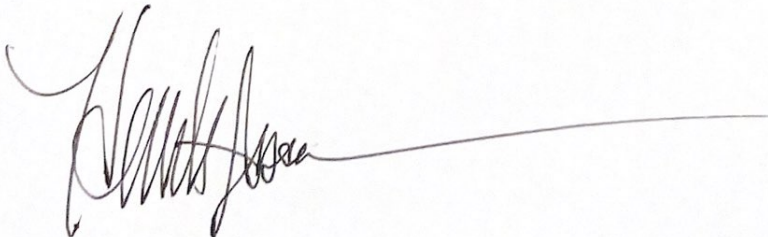

Thanks for visiting me at the Bingham Hill Cemetery. You have an excellent plan to care for this historic site, and I, and several others, are willing to help out. Due to my physical limitations, all I can do is use my electric string trimmer to cut down weeds and grass. Several of us have also donated money. I participated in the gravel on the walkway and part of the expense of the new steps. I found the cemetery to be in good condition.

Things went very well at the Howling Cow Café with my students. Making selection in advance shortened the time. We also enjoyed the free samples!

The informative video introduction was very nice, and our guide to the school was excellent. I find the plaques of the history of the Graves family to be very tasteful and professional positioned along the wall. They do not distract, in the least, from the historic character of the school. Pass this along to Robin, our host.

I plan to do this same tour next year either in the spring or the fall.
